Dear Fika,

it is my pleasure to inform you that we seem to have the space for lesson plan submission in the April 2021 issue of Teaching English with Technology. Thus, if you are still willing to publish with us, do make sure you insert your text (attached is our version, which you should work with) into the template provided, retaining the page setup, font style and size, indentations etc. Also, do format your references according to the examples in the template. Finally, while resubmitting please fill in and send also the author declaration signed by all the authors electronically (attached). We need to receive your reformatted submission within the next 7 days, however, we need you to immediately confirm whether you are going to make it or not.

The final decision on publication will be made by Journal Editors on the basis of the submission's final quality. Should you have any questions concerning this final stage of the editing process, I am at your service.

Regards,

Dear Prof. dr Jarosław Krajka,

We would like to inform that our paper has been reformatted based on the suggested template, Here are some changes we have made in the content to fulfill TEwT criteria:

1. Title is revised into TECHNOLOGY-BASED INSTRUCTIONAL PLAN ACROSS GRADE LEVELS DURING EMERGENCY REMOTE TEACHING AND LEARNING
2. Abstract, conclusion, and references are added
3. There is one author added, Niamika El Khoiri. She is responsible for additional information, particularly final paper layout and references.

Additionally, we have also attached the cover letter signed by all of the authors of this paper. Hopefully, our documents can meet your requirement. If there is further feedback, we are ready to revise it. We are looking forward to hearing from you.

Best Regards,

Fika Megawati

Dear Fika,
thank you for your revision, please find the attached file for proofreading, after copy-editing and language polishing. Please make your suggestions for changes using Acrobat Reader's annotations. Also, please send the references in a separate Word document WITHOUT Mendeley field - we can't edit them as they are now. Finally, please note that the additional co-author you were writing about cannot be added at this stage - we have a clear policy that we do not allow any additions of authors after the article's submission. Do get back your proofed article and the references within 5 days from now (by Monday April 12, but preferably earlier than that).

Dear Authors,

it is my great pleasure to inform you that the new issue of Teaching English with Technology journal with your contributions inside has just been published on the TEwT journal's website at <https://www.tewtjournal.org/volume-2021/>. Within the next 2-3 days we will be sending the new issue to some databases (ERIC, EBSCO, CEEOL), others (most notably, Scopus) will grab our content at their own timing. Please note that unfortunately no changes in your papers are possible in the future.

At this point, let me thank you for your contribution - we are honoured that you have selected our Journal as the place to publish your work, we are happy the reviewing and copy-editing process came quickly and effortlessly to a successful end. Feel free to spread the good word about our Journal, republish your article in the entire issue as attached to this message, republish the entire issue on your social media/university websites, in this way contributing to increasing TEwT readership.

Best,
