Reviewer A:

Paper length::
Ok

Originality:: Acceptable

Scope of paper::
Relevant to IJLTER

Related work::
Acceptable

Language::
I have made suggestions to improve the clarity and cohesion of the authors sentences.

References::
References are up to date and relevant.

Additional comments along the following lines: originality, literature review, methodology, evaluation of results, research implications, quality of communication, etc.:

While TPR has been examined before, the research presented here would be very informative to TESOL Indonesia teacher educators. I would like to see clearer recommendations made that would support teacher educators in Indonesian context support new teachers/or the professional development of inservice teachers. I have included a file with my comments and suggested edits. The intro, lit review are fine. The methods section requires significant addition of information that would allow replication of the study. Details need to be included to give a clearer understanding of how the data was collected. Evaluation and research implications are fine, expect the addition of clearer recommendations for teacher educators listed above.

Reviewer C:

Paper length::
Too short

Originality::
Nil

Scope of paper::
Relevant to IJLTER

Related work::
Acceptable

Language::
There are just too many basic grammatical and typographic errors to count or list. For example, the in-text citations to books do not go by APA format. In the section of methodology on p. 3 this appears:
(Ary, 2002) (Shakouri, 2014).

References::
There can be more.

Additional comments along the following lines: originality, literature review, methodology, evaluation of results, research implications, quality of communication, etc.:

It does not take a study to reach such a conclusion. No research implications are found. The conclusion can be easily gathered from common sense without doing any research. It is much too short with only one paragraph. Even if there were two paragraphs, the conclusion still would not work since it does not include academic insights or recommendations for further research.

There are three researchers. How the job of observations were divided among them? Were all the three researchers present on the spot? How many interviewers were there exactly when each interviewee was being interviewed?

Reviewer D:

Paper length::
Quite short

Originality:: Acceptable

Scope of paper::
Relevant to IJLTER

Related work::
Acceptable

Language::
The use of language is very good. There is no grammar or spelling mistake.

References::
Cites all data obtained from solid sources. APA citation style is used in both text and references.

Additional comments along the following lines: originality, literature review, methodology, evaluation of results, research implications, quality of communication, etc.:

The authors need to add relevant literature reviews and how their study fill the gap and further make contributions. Moreover, more in-depth analysis and discussion is needed. The authors also need to provide educational implications of the study.

Dear Authors,

The decision for your paper is: accept the paper if the requested changes are made

You need to do the following and submit the paper by email by 28th February 2019 for publication in the February 2019 issue.

Editor's Note

1. Format the paper strictly according to the template (attached).

2. Follow APA style strictly for the references. References must strictly follow APA otherwise publication will be delayed.

<http://www.apastyle.org/>

http://student.ucol.ac.nz/library/onlineresources/Documents/APA_guide_2015.pdf

3. Check if references are mentioned in the text (and vice-versa).

Failure to correct the references will delay the review process.

Add at least one reference from IJLTER if available.

Also include recent papers (2015-2018) in the references.

Any non-English words must have their equivalent inside square brackets [].

4. Address all the concerns of the reviewers, as far as appropriate.

5. Mention the doi of each reference where available.

a. Go to <http://search.crossref.org/>

b. Copy and paste the title of the paper in the search box

c. Press the Enter key.

d. Copy and paste the doi back to the paper (into the reference section) if one is available. DOI may not be available for some of the references. This is fine.

6. Prepare a separate word document to indicate the changes that were made. This is compulsory. The paper will not be considered without this.

The revised paper will undergo another round of review (fast-track) before the final decision to publish is taken.

If you have any queries, please let us know.
